Chou Lab – BCMP

The research project investigates the HIV-1 membrane fusion protein in the context of membrane. The goal is to use the knowledge to design novel immunogens for B-cell based HIV-1 vaccine development. The applicant must have a PhD and solid training in protein biochemistry, cell biology, or structural biology.